Capital Is Cool To Suggestions That Big Three Parley Be Called

Indications Are That Washington Wants Meeting Less than Either London or Moscow

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 (AP)—Suggestions for an early meeting of President Truman, Generalissimo Stalin and Prime Minister Attlee are getting a cool reception at the White House and State department. There are some indications that Washington wants such a gathering less than either London or Moscow.

British officials gave newsmen the impression during Mr. Attlee's visit here last week that he would consider a Big Three meeting potentially very valuable. The following announcement of the Anglo-American-Canadian atomic control proposals, word came from Moscow that diplomatic authorities reported preliminary moves for a Big Three meeting were underway. A news dispatch said the aim would be to solve current deadlocks on high policy.

No Plans for Meeting
Inquiry shows that some of the highest officials in Washington know of no plans for a conference and themselves see few concrete results to be accomplished by one. However, should either Attlee or Stalin take the position that a gathering was urgently desirable, it almost certainly would be held.

From available information the attitude of the White House and State department seems to be that the problems now requiring big power decisions can be solved more easily by three chiefs of government than by their diplomatic representatives.

Today the top problems common to the big powers are:
1. Atomic — The United States and Britain, having jointly developed the atomic bomb during the war, have now decided how atomic energy and explosives should be handled during the peace. They have told Russia of their decision in the same manner that they told France and China.

2. Japan-Russia wants a control commission of the United States, Britain, China and Russia with each decision to be made by a unanimous vote. The United States claims this type voting system has failed miserably in the German control council.

3. Balkans—There is a similar deadlock over the governments of Bulgaria and Romania. Russia has wanted them recognized in their own right.

Dutch Naval Base Battle Continues

By RALPH MORTON
BATAVIA, Java, Nov. 18 (AP)—British forces, opposed by Indonesian tank and mortar fire, advanced approximately 1,000 yards in one sector of Soerabaja today as the eight-day battle for the Dutch naval base continued.

Premier Sutan Sjahrir, of the unrecognized Indonesian republic pledged to the task of restoring peace in Java, rushed a three-man committee to Soerabaja to investigate the fighting in the hope that a solution could be found in their hands.

His action came after a meeting of Indonesian, British and Dutch leaders last night failed to find a formula for settling the dispute growing out of Indonesian demands for independence.

Disorders flared in at least two other areas, leaving two British officers dead, a British officer and a Dutch woman wounded and thirteen Dutch Ambonese troops wounded.

The British view, after the failure of last night's conference, was that there is no power in Java today capable of exercising sufficient control over the country to restore order.

Sjahrir declared that M. E. Denning, British foreign office advisor to the Southeast Asia command, became "the spokesman for the Dutch in attempting to high pressure us into accepting Dutch proposals."

Denning questioned us like a policeman questioning small boys," he said.

The conferees agreed to hold another meeting within five days, after Sjahrir had an opportunity to discuss the situation with his newly-formed cabinet.

Wounded Marine Wins Battle To Walk Again

SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 18 (AP)—The hotel ball room was crowded. The orchestra was playing a lively tune.

The marine corporal, a hero of Iwo Jima, handed his crutches to his brother. Slowly and painstakingly he joined the merry-makers on the dance floor.

France, Russia Seek To Delay Trial of Nazis

MUNICH, Germany, Nov. 18 (AP)—French and Russian prosecution staffs, seeking a reversal of a ruling by the war crimes tribunal, moved today to force the indictment of Munitions-Maker Alfred Krupp and to postpone the opening of the mass trial of former Nazi leaders now scheduled for Tuesday.

Soviet Assistant Prosecutor Col. Yuri P. Gromyko, said he would ask the International Prosecutors committee to request the postponement because of the illness in Moscow of his chief, Lt. Gen. Roman A. Rudenko.

French Assistant Prosecutor Charles Dubost said he would support the Russian request "as a matter of international courtesy."

Dubost meanwhile was informed that the tribunal would consider his formal demand for a public hearing tomorrow on a request by France, Russia and the United States that Alfred Krupp be substituted for his son as a defendant at the trial.

The tribunal's action yesterday in refusing to indict the 36-year-old munitions-maker brought bitter protests from both the French and Russians, who said they were not present yesterday at the twenty-first session when the British president of the court read the decision.

United States Prosecutor Robert H. Jackson, who also wanted Krupp included in the mass trial, declined to comment.

A British psychiatric commission formally advised the tribunal that Rudolf Hess is mentally incapable of defending himself in court, but was sane at the time he is alleged to have committed war crimes.

The decision of whether Hess will face trial probably will be announced by the tribunal tomorrow afternoon, after the British report is compared with recommendations of Russian, French and American psychiatrists.

"Belsen Beast," Facing Gallows, Will Appeal

LUENEBURG, Germany, Nov. 18 (AP)—Two women and one man sentenced to hang for the tortures of Belsen and Oswiecim have accepted their fate, but eight others facing the gallows, including Josef Kramer, Irma Grese and Dr. Fritz Klein, will appeal, it was disclosed today.

Maj. L. S. W. Cranfield, defense counsel spokesman, said appeals will be lodged with Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery by twenty-six of the thirty defendants given sentences of death or imprisonment. They will contest both the convictions and the sentences.

The three resigned to die are Elizabeth Volkenrath, 26, head woman supervisor for the SS (elite guard), Juana Borman, 42, religious fanatic who gave up missionary work to join the SS, and Franz Hessler, SS member who aided in killing victims for the gas chamber where thousands died.

Ex-Sen. Luke Lea, Who Led Daring Attempt To "Kidnap" Kaiser, Dies

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 18 (AP)—Luke Lea, 66, former United States senator and newspaper publisher whose career reached a climax in an attempt to "kidnap" the exiled German kaiser in Holland, died at a Nashville hospital tonight.

Lea had been taken to the hospital the middle of last week after he had suffered an attack of indigestion which doctors said was traced to ulcers of the stomach.

Senator at 31, a colonel in the artillery in the First World War and leader of a daring expedition which had as its purpose capturing Wilhelm and turning him over to an Allied military court, Lea was a powerful political figure in Tennessee for more than two decades.

Yet "the colonel," as he was usually called, kept out of the political spotlight, moving behind the scenes, and becoming a somewhat legendary character. Only once did he hold public office and that was when the Legislature, in 1911, elected him to the United States Senate.

Adm. J. O. Richardson May Be Called To Testify Today

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 (AP)—The late President Roosevelt's name may be injected into the Pearl Harbor investigation this week in connection with the pre-war disposition of naval strength between the Atlantic and Pacific.

The Senate House Inquiry committee, still questioning army and navy witnesses on just what happened December 7, 1941, expects to go next into the events leading up to that fateful date of the Japanese surprise attack.

It has Adm. J. O. Richardson, now retired, on its list as the first of the "background witnesses," with a committee notation to the effect that he is to be asked for the "complete story of the reasons why the fleet was based at Pearl Harbor, his trips to Washington in July and October, 1940, his discussions and disagreement with President Roosevelt x x x."

Richardson may be called late tomorrow or next day.

The admiral was commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet in 1940, surrendering the command in January, 1941, to Adm. Husband E. Kimmel, Mr. Roosevelt's former naval aide, who held the post at the time of Pearl Harbor.

Just what Richardson's differences with the late president were has never been officially published. Rumor long has had it that he objected when Mr. Roosevelt wanted to transfer some naval units from the Pacific to the Atlantic to aid in getting supplies to Great Britain.

It is on the record that a few months after Richardson was relieved, three battleships, one aircraft carrier, four cruisers and nine destroyers were moved from the Pacific to the Atlantic fleet.

Outside the committee room, Mr. Roosevelt's name already has figured in Democratic assertions that the Republicans are trying to turn the investigation into an attack on the late president.

That line of contention was voiced yesterday when Postmaster General Robert E. Hannegan, the Democratic National Committee chairman, said at French Lick, Ind., that the Republicans on the committee were out to "smear Roosevelt."

The tribunal's action yesterday in refusing to indict the 36-year-old munitions-maker brought bitter protests from both the French and Russians, who said they were not present yesterday at the twenty-first session when the British president of the court read the decision.

United States Prosecutor Robert H. Jackson, who also wanted Krupp included in the mass trial, declined to comment.

A British psychiatric commission formally advised the tribunal that Rudolf Hess is mentally incapable of defending himself in court, but was sane at the time he is alleged to have committed war crimes.

The decision of whether Hess will face trial probably will be announced by the tribunal tomorrow afternoon, after the British report is compared with recommendations of Russian, French and American psychiatrists.

Greeks Demand Northern Epirus

ATHENS, Greece, Nov. 18 (AP)—More than 10,000 Greeks jammed historic Constitution square today in a mass demonstration against British and United States offers of recognition of the Albanian government and shout in unison: "We are going to fight" over Northern Epirus.

Greek Orthodox Bishop Panteleimon, of Argirocastro, Albania, told the multitude that recognition of Albania was "ridiculous" and "if the Allies do not give it (Northern Epirus) to us through justice we shall take it by strength."

The crowd took up his words and chanted "ridiculous."

Northern Epirus is the border area now a part of Albania which Greeks claim is historically, culturally and ethnically theirs. It has been a part of Albania since 1914, was taken by the Greeks in their fight with the Italians in the war just closed and reoccupied by the Axis when the Germans overran Greece.

Seven streets leading to Constitution square were packed with cheering, shouting Greeks in what observers described as the biggest mass demonstration in modern Greek history.

Half a dozen crippled veterans of the Albanian-Italian campaign were lifted to the shoulders of the crowd amid shouts of "Let the Allies see it."

MOSCOW, Nov. 18 (AP)—Canadian Ambassador Dana Wilgress left Moscow for London by air today on a mission reported to be connected with Anglo-American-Russian questions, including the atomic bomb. Wilgress planned to visit the British capital for about thirty days.

DeGaulle Might Be Re-elected, Observers Say

Socialist Party Will Abstain from Voting on Resignation

By JOSEPH DYNAN

PARIS, Nov. 18 (AP)—The powerful Socialist party said tonight it would abstain from voting tomorrow afternoon, when the National Constituent Assembly decides whether to accept or reject Gen. Charles DeGaulle's resignation as president.

The Communist party, which polls the greatest popular vote in France and has the greatest number of assembly seats, already has indicated it will vote against DeGaulle.

Political observers believed, however, that DeGaulle might possibly be re-elected with votes of the Popular Republican Movement and Right Wing parties.

The assembly vote tomorrow was requested by DeGaulle tonight in a letter to Assembly President Felix Gouin, who was himself presented as a candidate to succeed DeGaulle.

DeGaulle said that since he was unable to appear in the assembly until he had formed a government, he had asked the deputies to confirm or deny the mandate they unanimously gave him just five days ago to form a government.

The vote will climax a bitter political dispute that developed over the composition of the interim government that will rule France for seven months while the Fourth Republic's constitution is being drafted.

At a meeting of fifteen spokesmen for the assembly's three large parties, the Communists declared that Gouin was the only man capable of heading a government of national unity.

DeGaulle's radio speech last night, explaining his resignation and implying the Communist party was a tool of Moscow, evoked a prompt reaction among Communist spokesmen and apparently ended hope of formation of a compromise cabinet under the general.

The Communist nomination of Socialist Gouin was interpreted as a bid for Socialist party support, but the Socialists stood pat on their earlier position—that they would join only a government which had the backing of all three parties.

The third party—Popular Republic Movement—reserved judgment on the proposal.

The Communist Political Bureau termed DeGaulle's speech "contrary to democratic traditions" and "a slur against the French Communist party and its 5,000,000 voters."

In his nationwide broadcast, re-broadcast several times today, DeGaulle gave his reasons for failure to form a tripartite coalition cabinet, and said he could not grant Communist demands for one of three major cabinet positions—foreign affairs, war or interior—and still maintain a policy of "equilibrium between two great political powers."

The two great political powers were not named by DeGaulle himself but a spokesman identified them as Russia and the United States.

Size of Western Garrisons Will Be Cut by Army

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 (AP)—The army is planning to pare down the size of Western Hemisphere base garrisons, relying on air transport for quick reinforcement in an emergency.

George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, contends that the air transport planes introduced in World War II will make it possible to guard hemisphere bases with reduced forces, holding a proportion of the garrisons in the continental United States for swift transportation by air to any point needed.

Army leaders feel this system will have at least two advantages—cut the high cost of maintaining big garrisons overseas and simplify the supply problem. The system, of course, is considered purely as a peacetime measure.

While the army air force has been putting into surplus categories a large number of transport planes, AAF officials have estimated that the requirements for the immediate future will be about 3,800 planes.

The carrying capacity of transport now in service is substantial. The C-74 Douglas aircraft Super-transporter is capable of handling up to twenty tons of freight.

The army garrison in Alaska, westernmost of the mainland defenses, now is about 46,000. The army expects to reduce this to 28,000 by next July 1.

Seven Die in Two Days of Fighting in Northern Iran

Members of Separatist "Democrat" Party March toward Tehran

By JOSEPH DYNAN

TEHRAN, Iran, Nov. 18 (AP)—An Iran government spokesman said tonight seven persons were killed in two days of fighting in the North-eastern province of Azarbaijan.

The spokesman said members of the separatist "Democrat" party, armed with rifles and machine guns, already had captured the railway town of Mianeh and were marching toward Tehran, 250 miles to the southeast.

The occupation of Mianeh, the spokesman continued, was reported in a cable to Tehran Friday by the governor of Zanjan in Khamseh province, seventy-five miles south of Mianeh on the Tehran railroad.

His cable said one gendarme captain and four soldiers and two Mianeh railway station employees were killed in the fighting.

Three towns isolated in Azarbaijan is the most North-western Iran province, adjoining the Soviet republic of the same name and bordering the Caspian sea.

The Iran government spokesman said members of the insurgents had isolated three towns where there were Iran garrisons. He said insurgents were dressed in civilian clothes.

It was understood that the weapons wielded by insurgents were considered part of 100,000 Iranian rifles and machine guns handed over to the Russians when Red troops entered Iran in 1941.

The outbreak occurred in the area from which Iranians say they have been barred from sending gendarmes by Russian occupation forces.

The Council of Ministers met in an extraordinary session and instructed War Minister Gen. Riza and Chief of Staff Gen. Ibrahim Arfa to ask the Soviet military attaché for an explanation. The Russian charge d'affaires is ill.

Situation is "Desperate"
The Soviet attaché promised to refer the matter to the commander-in-chief of Russian forces in Iran, Gen. Sovetnikov.

A high-ranking Iran officer said the outbreak began two days ago and he termed the situation "desperate."

The governor said the commandant of the Iran division at Tabriz had asked permission of Russian authorities to send an officer to Tehran to report to the government, but the Russians refused his request.

This dispatch did not say what other forces were involved in the fighting. Northwest Iran has been occupied by Russian troops. For several days, the situation was "desperate."

Atomic Bomb May Force Rebuilding Of Panama Canal

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 (AP)—Discovery of the atomic bomb may force rebuilding of the Panama canal.

This possibility was disclosed today by the House Merchant Marine committee in a report that "the advent of atomic bombing" threatens the canal's security.

To meet the threat, the committee has approved a bill calling for a study of whether a rebuilding program should be attempted.

If the rebuilding is to be done, the idea would be to eliminate the locks, which are particularly vulnerable, and make the canal a sea-level waterway.

The study also would consider the advisability of enlarging the canal to allow aircraft carriers and "larger vessels of the future" to go through.

A decision must be made soon since a project for a third set of locks already is well underway.

Six Are Killed and 27 Hurt When Bus Upsets and Burns

WENDOVER, Utah, Nov. 18 (AP)—Six men were killed today in the crash and burning of a Pacific Greyhound bus bound from San Francisco to Salt Lake City.

An estimated twenty-seven persons were injured in the accident on Highway 40-50, forty-six miles east of Wendover at the edge of the dreary salt flats.

The dead were not immediately identified. Their bodies were burned badly by flames which swept the bus after it skidded off the road and crashed into a ditch.

Sheriff Alma White said five of the dead men were military personnel—two army, two navy and one merchant marine.

So far as could be determined the injured were not seriously hurt. Many of the injured were discharged by soldiers and sailors and after the crash, they mourned the loss of discharge papers, mustering out pay and clothing lost in the flames.

Driver Ernest Renfro, Elko, Nev., a ten-year veteran with the company, who suffered a back injury, said it was foggy at the time of the crash and the highway was extremely slippery. He was driving at a normal speed, he said, when the bus began to skid when the left front tire blew out.

Bulgaria Has First Election since 1940

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Nov. 18 (AP)—The election of a national assembly—first held in Bulgaria since 1940—went forward tonight quietly, with indications of a large vote.

Prior to the start of voting the Bulgarian government replied to a note of warning from Washington. The contents of the Bulgarian note were not made public, but unofficial sources said it merely contained a re-statement of the Bulgarian position on the Munich crisis.

There was no indication that either the United States note or opposition demands for a postponement would cause the government to alter its plans to submit to the people a single slate of candidates representing the Communist-dominated Fatherland front.

Fords, Chrysler-Built Cars, Studebakers Will Be Up; Prices of GM Machines Will Be Cut

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 (AP)—The OPA announced tonight that retail prices for new Fords, Chrysler-built cars and Studebakers will be up one to nine per cent over January, 1942 prices. Retail prices for General Motors cars will be cut an average of 2.5 per cent.

Price Administrator Chester Bowles said that on the average prices the public pays for new cars "will be no higher than those charged in January, 1942."

This, he added, does not take into account some price increases based on design and engineering changes. The retail price increase for Fords will average about two per cent, Bowles said, while Chrysler retail ceilings will be up about one per cent and Studebaker approximately nine per cent.

Bowles said that manufacturers' prices, apart from increases due to specification changes, "will be increased on the average less than three and one-half per cent above 1942 levels."

Dealers' Demands Are Rejected

The OPA chief rejected dealers' demands that they be exempt altogether from having to absorb any of manufacturers' price increases resulting from higher production costs.

Bowles announced however, that dealers' discount margins will be uniformly trimmed by only 2.5 percentage points. He had indicated earlier that the prewar average discount of twenty-four per cent might be cut by four or five percentage points.

The only actual ceiling prices announced were for Ford and Studebaker. Others will be made public "as soon as final details can be worked out," Bowles said.

This is the picture he gave for various makes of new cars: GENERAL MOTORS — "Retail prices of General Motors cars will average about 2.5 per cent below January, 1942 levels." Bowles said that Chevrolet, Pontiac, Oldsmobile, Buick and Cadillac—all produced by GM — had accounted for about forty-seven per cent of 1941 production for the industry. He added that information recently submitted by GM "indicates clearly that no across-the-board increase is required above their 1942 factory price levels."

FORD — A six per cent increase in factory prices will be reflected "in about a two per cent increase on the average at retail," Bowles specified. Ford retail prices also will reflect changes in engineering and specifications "which have increased production costs over 1941 levels."

CHRYSLER Car Prices Rise
CHRYSLER — Preliminary examination of information (submitted by the company) indicates it is unlikely that—aside from specification changes—factory prices will be increased at retail," Bowles specified. This will mean, Bowles added, about one per cent increase at retail. Chrysler produces the Plymouth, Dodge, DeSoto and Chrysler cars.

Five Nations Back Atomic Proposals

[By The Associated Press]
High officials of five small nations have given general approval to the proposals of President Truman and Prime Ministers Attlee and MacKenzie King on sharing secrets of atomic energy when effective controls are set up. In most world governments, however, officials were either reluctant to commit themselves, or remained silent, according to reports from Associated Press correspondents.

The expressions of approval came from Costa Rica, El Salvador, Greece, Honduras and the Netherlands.

Among those silent were the top men of Soviet Russia whose reaction to the three-power proposals may be the determining factor in the success or failure of the plan to avert an atomic race toward destruction.

In many unofficial quarters there was a general tone of approval of the objectives, but there also was criticism that the plan was inadequate and unclear.

Britain, Canada and the United States already were on record in their Washington declaration.

ARREST OF 11 JAP WAR LEADERS IS ORDERED

TOKYO, Monday, Nov. 18 (AP)—Gen. MacArthur today ordered the arrest of eleven Japanese war leaders, including military ministers, and Toshio Shiratori, one-time ambassador to Rome—both instrumental in tripartite negotiations—and such internationally notorious generals as Sadao Araki, former war minister, Kuniaki Koiso, former premier, and Hiro Minami, once known as the brains of the military clique.

Among those named were Yosuke Matsuoka, former foreign minister, and Toshiro Kato, one-time ambassador to Rome—both instrumental in tripartite negotiations—and such internationally notorious generals as Sadao Araki, former war minister, Kuniaki Koiso, former premier, and Hiro Minami, once known as the brains of the military clique.

Soldier, Engaged To Girl Overseas, Answers Critics

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

In the late summer this column received a letter from a correspondent who signed herself "Contented Wife." The fact that a large number of foreign-born girls were marrying our soldiers abroad made her wonder if there would be enough husbands to go around in this country, and if a good many fine American girls would fail to get husbands as good as hers.

Since this woman's letter was published, replies have come from all over the United States, some V-mail letters from abroad. Also the boys agree with her that attractive American girls will have to call themselves "girl bachelors" to take the sting out of the unflattering term "old maid."

The latest contribution on the subject comes from Yale University.

"Dear Miss Fairfax:
"I've been reading with increasing interest your column dealing with the delicate subject of American soldiers marrying foreign girls and bringing them over here. I'm one of the legion of Yanks engaged to a girl overseas. Since returning from England I've heard on all sides moans and groans of American girls who see their matrimonial chances slipping.

"They seem incapable of understanding how an American man could prefer a foreigner as a wife. In assuming that they have a corner on the world market of feminine charm, these American girls amaze me. Instead of bewailing their fate, why don't these girls take stock of themselves and try to discover why they came in second-best with some of our soldiers.

"After all, the majority of American soldiers who've been overseas are still loyal to the 'girl back home,' convinced she's tops. I've yet to hear of any mass desertion of home-town sweethearts for English, French, Dutch or Belgian women.

M. K.
While this correspondent does not state what was the particular lure that drew him to his foreign-born fiancée, other GIs have been more frank. Roughly speaking, I'd say the spark that attracted them to these foreign girls is that they're good homemakers. Even in the wrecked and blasted homes, to which many of them still cling, and the scantiest rations, they have been able to create an atmosphere for which every heart yearns—home.

Japanese Are Forbidden To Fly But Regain Radios

TOKYO, Nov. 18. (AP)—Japan's once-extensive civil aviation industry must be wiped out completely by the end of the year. Allied headquarters decreed today.

The directive forbade private flying, pilot training of any sort, ownership of flyable planes and any aerial research.

Another order instructed the Japanese government to restore to individuals the 4,000,000 radio receivers which were confiscated, wrecked or otherwise rendered inoperable during the war, when the government was fearful that its people would hear Allied broadcasts.

American Legion Convention Opens

CHICAGO, Nov. 18. (AP)—Comdr. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., told the American Legion today that this nation will never be conquered and has always won its wars because "we Americans put our country first."

Accepting the Legion distinguished service medal bestowed posthumously upon his father, the late president, Comdr. Roosevelt said veterans of 1918 and veterans of World War II had in common with his father the spirit of "putting country above life itself."

"I know and you know," he said, "with obvious emotion, that my father gave his life for his country. Veterans have a great responsibility of carrying on that spirit, that tradition."

The late president's successor, President Truman, telegraphed greetings at the opening of the Legion's twenty-seventh annual national convention in which he said this was the first Legion convention in many years he had not attended as a delegate from Missouri.

Mr. Truman said the Legion was in a position "to render great service—by helping returning veterans to find their places in competitive society."

The Legion distinguished service medal was presented to Henry L. Stimson, former secretary of war, by Roane Waring, past national commander from Tennessee, and accepted on Stimson's behalf by Brig. Gen. Kenneth C. Royall, undersecretary of war.

Posthumously, the distinguished service medal was presented to Ernie Pyle, the late war correspondent.

U. S. Soldier, Jap Girl Are Beaten to Death

OSAKA, Nov. 18. (AP)—The bodies of an American soldier and a Japanese girl, evidently beaten to death with a club, have been found near a stream here, United States Sixth Army officials reported today.

A public relations officer described the deaths as double murder, although investigation has not been completed. He did not name the soldier.

Lindbergh Says World Control of Destructive Forces Is "Imperative"

NEW YORK, Nov. 18. (AP)—Charles A. Lindbergh asserted today that development of the atomic bomb had made "imperative" a world organization for control of destructive forces.

The noted flier also said "I have not changed my belief that World War two could have been avoided."

Lindbergh made the comments in a statement concerning what he described as "an inaccurate account" of remarks he made at a private meeting of midwestern congressmen in Washington November 8.

As the conference ended two weeks of work, it had not yet grappled with the key problem of recommending any actual machinery for arbitration, nor with the question of any laws which might be needed to carry out conference recommendations on arbitration or other points.

Eric Johnston, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, and a conference delegate, acknowledged that "the things over which we disagree are truly monumental" in many instances, but he said they were not insurmountable.

The question of whether national wage levels should come before the conference apparently was not due for early decision. A special subcommittee of the Executive committee, assigned to this issue, met for forty minutes Saturday. On breaking up its members said they would have no recommendation ready for tomorrow's Executive committee meeting.

Murder of 141 American Servicemen Is Described At Yamashita Trial

MANILA, Monday, Nov. 19. (AP)—The shooting, bayoneting and burning of 141 American servicemen by the Japanese on Palawan island, in the West Central Philippines, was described in depositions today at the war crimes trial of Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita.

The murdered Americans were part of a group of 150 captured during the Philippines fighting and taken to Palawan to work on Japanese airfield installations, the commission hearing the charges against Yamashita was told.

Only nine survived. They escaped and swam several miles to another island where they were rescued by guerrilla forces.

The depositions said the men were ordered from their work at the airfield at midday into air raid shelters. Their Japanese guards threw buckets of gasoline over them and set them afire. Those not burned to death were shot or bayoneted as they attempted to escape.

War Wail and Soldier Are Joyously Reunited

PORTLAND, Me., Nov. 18. (AP)—A 10-year-old Polish war wail and a Chicago army sergeant, buddies on Europe's battlefields, were joyously reunited today when the lad arrived on the SS James Swan from England.

"Ed! I so happy," beamed five-times-wounded Bobby Sokolowski as he and Tech Sgt. Edward Klonowski clung at the pier.

The orphan, small for his age, was clad in a cutdown uniform and wore a European theater ribbon with three battle stars, presidential unit citation bar, and Purple Heart with five stars.

He earned all those ribbons and he's entitled to wear the Bronze Star and Silver Star for gallantry in action," said Klonowski, who made a special trip to meet the boy.

He added that his parents intended to adopt the youngster.

Baby Girl Is Born Without Lower Esophagus

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 18. (AP)—A five-week-old baby girl, born without a lower esophagus, was flown here today from Parris Island, S. C., for a series of corrective operations.

The infant, Janice Elder, daughter of a Guadacanal and Purple Heart marine corporal, Robert Elder, Greensburg, Pa., was born October 11 at the Parris Island naval hospital.

Soon after, it was discovered the child could not eat, the food passing from the upper part of the esophagus through the windpipe to the lungs.

A navy doctor cut a hole in the abdominal wall and inserted a tube for feeding, then sent her here.

Lobbying Technique
Undergoes a Change

THE TIMES have changed and with them a lot of the old familiar forms and things have gone into the discard or changed into something new.
There is the technique of lobbying in the national capital, for instance. Newspaper correspondents there report that it has no resemblance to the methods employed in an earlier era. It is said to be much more subtle now and to pay higher dividends to the lobbyist who represents the application of that term and calls himself a "public relations counsel."
Whereas in the old days lobbying was a crude "wine, woman and song" business, it has now been "refined." No more direct payments, valuable gifts, "inside" stock market information or deliberate losses in card games. Today the "public relations counsel" resorts to subtler methods like direct and indirect propaganda, pressure from groups back home with lots of votes, threats to support political opponents.
More than a hundred lobbyists in Washington, many of them former members of Congress and White House favorites, are supposed to command higher salaries than the president.
One observer suggests that some day, after the problems of peace, industrial strife and other similarly intractable matters have been settled, something should be done to rid the national capital of these fellows on the ground that they are professional parasites. That is a rather far-fetched notion.
We shall always have the professional propagandists and after that they may be doing something useful and good in promoting things which are useful and good, and opposing things which are not. As for their big salaries, it may be noted that they are paid well because they have brains and if others want equally brainy payees they can get them by paying for them. That is a thought many employers might take to heart. In noting the contrast between the new lobbying technique and the old, who can deny that it is somewhat of an improvement?

Oil Reserve Survey
Is Heartening

THE STATEMENT by Frank Phillips, head of the Phillips Petroleum Company, that the United States gained 56.6 per cent in petroleum reserves from 1937 to 1945 is one of the most heartening reports about America's raw resources since its emergence from World War II.
Some dark pictures have been painted by high officials about America's coming reliance upon foreign sources of oil. Doleful licks recently stated that the nation would have no alternative but to seek oil deposits in the oceans bordering its shores. The United States was the chief source of supply of Allied armed forces during the war and the drain was so great that many officials thought that heavy calls upon American concessions in the troubled Middle East and Near East would be inevitable.
That prospect was not too encouraging to a nation that uses more oil than any other and that might be cut off from distant sources of supply in the event of more international strife.
But Phillips says if the oil industry is permitted to operate freely, sufficient oil will be found in this country to supply all needs. His viewpoint is the most encouraging that has been presented in many months. It means that America is amply supplied with this indispensable resource. Availability of sufficient petroleum at home and the procurement of it will keep money in domestic channels and provide employment for Americans.
Mr. Phillips's survey gives a lift in confidence.
Accumulating reports of the suicide of children who killed themselves because of stern disciplining by parents represents what is probably a very small extreme in discipline, but it also stresses the fact, which should always be considered, that the juvenile mind is exceedingly sensitive.
Another important action is reported from Luenburg, Germany, this being the seizure of the huge once-powerful Krupp munitions properties by the British on behalf of the Allies. The next obvious step is complete obliteration of this sprawling outfit, which has been a hell's brewery of war for so many years.
Cheap atomic bombs are predicted by Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, the scientist who headed the making of atomic bombs at Los Alamos, N. M. But, who wants them, even as a gift?
Postwar prosperity is now being pursued, with most persons convinced that there will be more pleasure in the possession of it.

A Great Navy Repair Base Is Abandoned

TOP-SECRET ULITHI, obscure atoll in the far Pacific that played a major role in American sea strategy, has returned to oblivion. The navy has abandoned the greatest advanced fleet rendezvous of all time.
The battleships, the carriers, the cruisers, the auxiliaries and all that array of fighting planes which for a few brief weeks transformed Ulithi's spacious lagoon into one of the most crowded places in the world, are gone. The surf there rolls again on coral strands almost deserted by man.
The Japanese navy, when it still was a navy, had passed up Ulithi as useless, but American fleet commanders, such as Adm. Chester Nimitz, realized its importance. Few Americans, until the closing weeks of the war, knew that the atoll had become America's powerhouse in the Western Pacific. Its very name was censored from communiques and dispatches. From its reef-sheltered waters sailed forth the mightiest armadas of history, commanded by Adms. Raymond A. Spruance and William F. Halsey, to bombard and conquer two Jima, Okinawa and Japan itself. Ulithi became a vast repair base and a rest haven for the men of the fleets.
Defenseless Guam is recalled when observing the mistake the Japanese made by not utilizing Ulithi. If the navy had decided that Ulithi is not to be retained as a rest post from which to guard this nation's future interests in that part of the world, it probably is because there are others even more suitable. America must keep naval strongholds in the neighborhood of Japan.

Two-Pants Suits
Are in the Future

TO ALL MEN who need a new suit of clothes and who recognize the virtues of the two-pants variety, the War Production Board's disclosure that this prewar item will not return until next summer or next fall comes as a painful blow. It hurts in that tender spot known as the pocketbook.
For the two-pants suit, whatever the government experts who banned it during the war may think or say, represented economy to anyone prepared to wear it out. It cost, on the average, about a third more than the one-pants ensemble. But it lasted anywhere from half again to twice as long. And it cut pressing and cleaning costs as well.
In fact, it has never been explained to the satisfaction of the devotees of the two-pants suit just what the government has against it. The ban against vests for double-breasted suits was understandable as a measure to save cloth, and there was probably some excuse for the no-cuffs edict, but no one can convince confined two-pants suiters that their sacrifice helped win the war. They will continue to believe that it resulted in waste, if anything.
That "if anything" is inserted because many men found a way around the ukase by wearing odd trousers with the coats of suits reduced by the passage of time to a coat and vest. It was done and it will still be done—perhaps even more generally during the next few months because there will be a disposition to wait until two-pants suits are again available.
In that case, the decision to keep the ban in force will actually help the situation. But it still seems a little unfair to those who must have a new suit that they will have to get along with a single pair of trousers.

The Nazi Assets
Hidden Abroad

NO EVIDENCE has come to hand as yet that any of the Nazi big-wigs have managed to flee to the neutral countries where they secreted part of their ill-gotten gains. But it is as important as ever to make sure that these funds will not be available in the future to finance a revival of Nazism in Europe or in other lands.
For that reason it is good to see that the Allies have formed a four-power German External Property Commission to take possession of German assets abroad which are estimated to be worth as much as a billion dollars.
It is a tedious and difficult job which has been entrusted to the commission. More of the assets which it is after lie in countries like Spain, Sweden, Switzerland and Argentina, which were either neutral or aggressively sympathetic to the Nazis. The commission has no weapon but persuasion in trying to get at the funds.
Allied leaders have taken special pains to make the document creating the commission and setting forth its authority a legally watertight instrument. The Allied Control Council is, at present, the sole government of Germany. As such it may legally claim the right to dispose of all German assets and property as it sees fit.
This should be sufficient to satisfy the neutrals but it is more than doubtful whether it will have any effect on the attitude of Spain and Argentina.
What use will be made of these assets is a question still to be decided. But that can wait. The first task is to insure that the assets will not fall into hands sympathetic to the Nazis.

Oil Reserve Survey
Is Heartening

THE STATEMENT by Frank Phillips, head of the Phillips Petroleum Company, that the United States gained 56.6 per cent in petroleum reserves from 1937 to 1945 is one of the most heartening reports about America's raw resources since its emergence from World War II.
Some dark pictures have been painted by high officials about America's coming reliance upon foreign sources of oil. Doleful licks recently stated that the nation would have no alternative but to seek oil deposits in the oceans bordering its shores. The United States was the chief source of supply of Allied armed forces during the war and the drain was so great that many officials thought that heavy calls upon American concessions in the troubled Middle East and Near East would be inevitable.
That prospect was not too encouraging to a nation that uses more oil than any other and that might be cut off from distant sources of supply in the event of more international strife.
But Phillips says if the oil industry is permitted to operate freely, sufficient oil will be found in this country to supply all needs. His viewpoint is the most encouraging that has been presented in many months. It means that America is amply supplied with this indispensable resource. Availability of sufficient petroleum at home and the procurement of it will keep money in domestic channels and provide employment for Americans.
Mr. Phillips's survey gives a lift in confidence.

A GREAT ART

BY GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS
It seems to me that one of the greatest of all arts is that of understanding. Most of the troubles of the world are traceable to misunderstanding. After all, we can do no better than to keep edging up close to the Golden Rule. The other fellow is just as important as we are. Let's keep that fact ever before us.
What causes a quarrel? Misunderstanding. What is it that separates people, both married and unmarried? Misunderstanding. What causes strife among employers and employees? Misunderstanding. What is it that plants the seeds of war among nations? Misunderstanding. And so it is all through life. Should it not be, therefore, the task of us all to try to understand under every circumstance or critical situation that may arise?
Each one of us is both right and wrong. We must be guided in our acts and decisions by remembering that others are in the same boat as we are, and are both right and wrong, so to get along happily we must meet on common ground—try to understand the viewpoint of the other fellow. All life is a give and take affair.
Only fools and the unintelligent refuse to compromise for the good of the many. We live in a very imperfect world, made up of many imperfect human beings, each one of us with his own imperfections.
If the Russians were Americans they would believe as Americans do, and if Americans were Russians they would believe as the Russians do! That's the way it is. Likewise among all nationalities. Here is where the great art of understanding comes in. We must learn to treat ourselves in the place of the other fellow and try to understand his circumstances of birth and life, and be just and tolerant.
We must learn to put ourselves in other people's shoes and take a walk into the field of understanding.

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND
Proposal To Cut Statute of Limitations
Is Denounced As Hitting Public Interest

By DREW PEARSON
WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—A special committee of Congress ought to be appointed just to watch the House Judiciary committee. More legislation designed to rob the taxpayer and harm the public interest is reported out of that committee than almost any other in Congress. Here is the latest.
House Bill 2788, just reported out of the Judiciary committee, would limit to a period of one year the time in which the federal government could prosecute various criminal acts. In other words, if a violation of the law could get away with it and remain undetected for one year after the transgression, the Statute of Limitations would have run, and he couldn't be prosecuted.
For instance, the proposed law provides that if anyone defrauds the government in disposing of surplus property, he can't be prosecuted after one year. It is already evident that surplus property is going to be one of the biggest sources of scandal in recent history, and it would be impossible for even J. Edgar Hoover to track down all irregularities in one year.
The Judiciary committee also proposes that if the director of a national bank violates the law and can get away with it for one year, he can't be prosecuted after that. The same is true of copyright infringement, violation of civil rights statutes, fraud in registration of public lands, and violation of the Wage-Hour act. The latter case is particularly interesting. An employer could willfully violate the wage-hour law knowing that if he gets caught, all he will have to do is pay a fine for that one year. Yet he might have been violating the law for three, four or five years. Such a provision, according to Labor department officials, would be an open invitation to employers to thumb their noses at the Wage-Hour act.
Yet the House Judiciary committee recommended passage of the bill. It is now up to the full House and the Senate.

Truman Haberdashery Past
President Truman didn't say anything about it, but he seemed a bit miffed at being ribbed so unmercifully at the National Press Club dinner over his career as a haberdashery salesman. It must be admitted that some of the professional comics rubbed it in pretty hard. Eddie Cantor was one of them.
"It's nice having a habdashery in the White House," he said.

$100,000 CONTRACT

EMIL SCHRAM, above, president of the New York Stock Exchange, has been given a contract expiring December 31, 1948, at $100,000 a year, it was announced by John A. Coleman, chairman of the board of governors. He has been receiving $48,000 annually since assuming the presidency in July, 1941. Action by the board in advancing Schram's pay comes at a time when the stock exchange is doing the best business since the 1937 bull market.

Just the day before, young Roosevelt and a group of veterans cooled their heels for forty-five minutes outside Mayor LaGuardia's office in City hall, New York, trying to appeal to the Little Flower to let them in. But he wouldn't let them in. He understood why so many think Russian "communism" is superior to the American system.

Idea of Equal Pay
In Russia Is Myth,
Pettengill Says

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL
A recent poll shows that more than half of the American people believe everyone in Russia gets the same pay. From this it is easy to understand why so many think Russian "communism" is superior to the American system.
The assumption is as false as the old idea that the world is flat. Equal pay, or the equal sharing of goods, does not obtain in Russia today. As the early Christians practiced "communism," the word applied to Russia, is a complete misnomer.
Neither communism, nor democracy, as Americans use these words, exist in the U.S.S.R. Although called "communism," the Russian system is in fact a system of state capitalism.
Pay Differentials Greater
According to reliable information, the differentials of pay between factory worker and manager are greater in Russia than in America.
It is important for us to begin to separate communist myth from fact. A good job in this direction has been done in "The Yogi and the Commissar," by Arthur Koestler, a former sympathetic newspaper correspondent in Russia, now completely disillusioned. Certain of our campus intellectuals, Washington bureaucrats, editors and clergymen could read this book with profit to themselves — and us.
Lenin is worshipped in his tomb but flaunted in the factory. Lenin said that the president of the "Republic" should receive no more pay than a worker. But in 1931 Stalin denounced equalitarianism in wages and promoted "Stakhanovism" as the new revelation. This, in America, is equivalent to the industrial "speed" contest. Top wages are often thirty times higher than the minimum wage, and engineers and managers get 100 to 300 times the minimum. These favored ones are the "proletarian millionaires."

Big Pay for Army Officers
In the Red army, according to Koestler, a private is paid ten rubles a month, a lieutenant 1,000 rubles, or 100 times as much. Applied to the private's pay of $50 in our army this differential would give an American lieutenant $5,000 a month!
A farm "hand" in Russia is credited with half a "working day" for a day's work, a tractor driver with five working days or ten times as much. No such differential exists under American capitalism.
The Russian boss has more absolute and dictatorial power over employees than anything known in this country. He can discharge without notice for the most trivial reason, and discharge carries with it the loss of one's ration card and right to dwelling space, starvation in short. On the outbreak of war, all factory discipline went under martial law. Absenteeism, or idling is punishable by death.
Living Standard Down
By 1937 the standard of living had dropped to a level thirty-two per cent lower than before 1917. Food consumption is estimated to be thirty per cent lower than that of the worst fed ten per cent in Great Britain. And Britain is worse off than we are.
Is it any wonder that Stalin is reported to be having trouble with his soldiers whom the war permitted for the first time to see how much better off Germans, Czechs and Austrians were than Russians in the communist paradise?

Nothing but complete ignorance of the facts, or deliberate concealment, can make the Russian system seem attractive to any American wage earner. The Russian has exchanged one tyranny for a worse one. He has less liberty and a lower standard of living than under the Czars.

Bomb Proposal
Is Constructive,
Lawrence Says

By DAVID LAWRENCE
WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—The United States and Britain and Canada have offered the whole world a constructive program for dealing with the military uses of the atomic bomb.
It is a program that promises to share the secret when "effective safeguards" against misuse have been developed. This is but a polite way of saying that when nations really trust one another they can have the horrible weapon we have invented. It is also a way of calling attention to an obvious fact but one perhaps not realized everywhere, namely that the United States, Great Britain and Canada have not the slightest fear that the bomb will be used against each other.
Surely since the United States has demonstrated already that it does share the secret with one of its nearest neighbors in this hemisphere and with its biggest naval rival in another hemisphere, there need be no reason to question our sincere willingness to give up the full secret to others.
Trading Not Contemplated
It will be said that the United States and Britain are using the bomb secret as a means of influencing diplomatic relations with Russia. Such a step, if true, would only aggravate Russo-American relations. It is not the intention of either the United States or Great Britain to trade the secret for some temporary concessions by Russia. On the contrary, the desire of the British and American governments is to create a permanently favorable atmosphere within which problems can be settled in the future even after the bomb secret has been given away and the leverage has been used up.
That's why the official communique stresses the fact that each step or stage must be completed before the next one can be taken. Thus ways and means to insure an effective inspection of other countries must be accepted by all countries before interchange is to materialize.

Plant Inspection First
Would Russia, for instance, consent in advance to the admittance of agents of the United Nations commission into factories and plants and the hitherto hidden areas of the Soviet Union? If after such a period of inspection during which an investigation of all sources of scientific or mechanical research or armament-making has been completed, then and then only will the next stage—sharing of the secret—be reached.
These are terms which, if the situation were reversed, Russia would undoubtedly insist upon. Clearly, the world-government school of thought which has been advocating the giving up of the secret to a super-state could not justly object to the above course for, if carried out honestly by all powers, the end and necessary step in the evolution of a world state will have been accomplished.
This is because if the means of destroying a nation's sovereignty is in the possession of other sovereign

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE
The American housewife will have a lot to be thankful for when these new "magic" kitchen appliances get in production. Everything will be automatic. You'll press a button and have a full-cooked meal; you'll press a button and the dishes will be washed and dried; you'll press a button and the floor will be scrubbed; you'll press a button and a robot maid will kiss your husband goodbye. You'll even press a button to press the button.
There won't be any worrying about the toast any more. After it comes out of the toaster, the burned spots will be automatically located by radar and atomic energy will scrape 'em off and butter 'em at the same time.
Of course, the scientist who invented all this stuff finally had a nervous breakdown trying to invent a machine to keep the kitchen faucet from leaking.
And in the future when a young girl gets married, her folks won't give her a cookbook. They'll just send her a tome entitled, "Theory of Electro-Dynamics and Fundamental Radar."
Yes, sir, everything will be arranged in the kitchen so the wife can't go wrong. Of course the refrigerator might break down.
(Copyright, 1945, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

nations, there must inevitably be created a relationship of mutual trust which could make any form of world government feasible.
Transition Not Simple
To aim, however, in the direction of world collaboration or even to promise eventually to give up the atomic bomb secret is not to find at once a substitute for the slow processes of self-education whereby citizens of one nationality place themselves voluntarily under the jurisdiction, legal or quasi-legal of a world government composed of and perhaps even dominated by the cultures, philosophies and basic attitudes toward law and morals of an entirely different group of nationalities. The transition will neither be simple nor achieved overnight.
All that can be said is that a start has been made to organize the discussion as to the disposal of the atomic bomb and to split the problem into concrete sections. World opinion must now do its part and it may well be that Russia will find it desirable to put her case frankly before the other nations of the world in order to exact from them the same pledge of self-control and self-discipline with respect to our own political and economic operations as we now ask Russia to impose on herself as a condition precedent to the disclosure of the atomic bomb. The debate should soon begin—perhaps the most fateful debate of all times.

Neighbors Turn Out To Assist Oakland Families

Collect Clothing and Supplies for Victims of Building Fire

By GEORGE H. HANST
OAKLAND, Nov. 17—A local disaster committee, working independently, has set up headquarters in the McIntire building, to collect clothing, furniture, kitchen utensils and anything for the rehabilitation of the families made homeless by Wednesday night's fire in the Nally building. Local organizations are making cash donations and co-operating with the disaster committee in an effort to help all families who were made homeless and who were unable to save anything. A pile of smoldering lumber, broken out in one part of the building, stood out in flames again this morning.

The firemen were called today to the wholesale house of Emeric Dusic where heat from a stove had penetrated some asbestos and fired a wall. There was no damage.

Attend Conference
A number of persons from this county attended the conference on school buildings and school architecture Friday and Saturday in Baltimore.

The group included F. E. Rathbun, cash superintendent; Jonas Sines, Oakland, county commissioner; O. T. Graser, Ralph Pitts and Grover Stemple, members of the Oakland high school building committee; O. P. Jones and Russell Feichtner, Kitzmiller; Frank Getty, Hayward Broadwater and Charles O. Bender, Grantsville, and B. O. Aiken, Accident.

Appropriations have been authorized by the legislature for expenditure of funds for school buildings in the county as follows: Oakland, $200,000; Grantsville and Kitzmiller, $15,000 each; Friendsville, $20,000; Accident, $10,000, and Bloomington, $900.00.

Erect Snow Fences
The work of erecting snow fences in Garrett county in preparation for the approaching winter, with its high winds and drifting snow, has been under way by employees of the state roads commission for several days, and is expected to be completed soon. Workmen each year place from thirty to thirty-five miles of fences in strategic points along the state highways, in their annual battle to keep highways open for traffic in all kinds of weather.

This year the state has been able to obtain about two carloads of new fences. The workers of the county roads department also have been busy placing their fences. Along with the erection of the snow fences, mechanics are putting all snow plows and other winter equipment in shape, ready for the first big snowfall.

The public religious observance of Thanksgiving in Oakland will follow the usual custom with a service of worship in which all Protestant churches participate. The service this year will be held in St. Paul's Methodist church Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. Dr. Denver C. Pickens, Methodist minister; the Rev. George Birk Luther and the Rev. Austin F. Schildwachter, Episcopal rector, will participate in the service. The latter will deliver the sermon. There will be special music by the Methodist choir, the senior and junior groups singing "Come Ye Thankful People, Come."

Re-elect Director
At a meeting of the Garrett County National Farm Loan Association Earl P. Teets was re-elected a member of the board of directors for a three-year term, it was announced by W. C. Bailey, Keyser, secretary-treasurer. Other members of the board are A. O. Riley, president; Russell P. Roth, William Ray Flannigan and D. E. Orendorf.

Reports on Drive
The initial report on the National War Fund drive in Garrett county indicates that contributions will parallel those of last year, providing solicitors remain on the job until their canvass has been completed in the various communities, according to Bernard I. Gonder, county chairman.

A partial report was received from Kitzmiller showing contributions of around $350. Other contributions concerns and organizations, total around $200. Gonder said collections at the schools would be completed in a few days and that free-will donations were being taken in the theaters.

The Girl Scouts of Oakland held a tag day today and the women's committee of the war fund division at Oakland have arranged a party next Wednesday evening, November 21, beginning at 9 o'clock, at the Manhattan hotel.

Reports from other community chairmen are expected soon. The county quota is $4,800.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 (AP)—Sid Luckman outpitched Sammy Baugh today but Washington's Redskins turned on the power on the field to overcome Chicago's Bears, 28-21.

In what was expected to be an aerial duel between professional football's two old masters, Luckman passed for all of Chicago's touchdowns.

He kept the Bears out ahead at 7-0, 14-7 and 21-14, but the Redskins, coming from behind three times, crashed through for two touchdowns in the final period to hold the leadership of the Eastern division of the National League.

With the Bears' defense spread out to stop his passing, Baugh utilized the Redskins' brilliant array of running backs for three touchdowns.

"Slippery Steve" Bagarus made the other Washington score on the day's most sensational play—a sixty-eight yard run after catching a Baugh toss into the flat.

Luckman, completing nineteen of thirty-six passes for 233 yards, threw to Ken Kavanaugh for the Bears' first touchdown.

The first was a thirty-three-yarder and sent the Bears out in front with the opening period three-fourths gone.

RAMS TRIM CARDS
CHICAGO, Nov. 18 (AP)—Led by Rookie Bob Waterfield, whose brilliant passing scored three touchdowns and set up two others, the Cleveland Rams trimmed the Chicago Cardinals, 35-21, today to take undisputed leadership of the National Football League's Western division before 18,000 fans at Comiskey park.

While the Detroit Lions were bowing to the New York Giants, 35-14, to relinquish their Western co-leadership, the Rams battled to their seventh league victory in eight starts by scoring twice in the first period and once each in the last three quarters.

The Cardinals' Paul Christman was a passing workhorse, trying forty-five tosses and connecting two on two touchdown flips. The Cardinals threatened until the final quarter, but Waterfield's unerring accuracy proved too much to overcome.

BOSTON, Nov. 18 (AP)—With the veteran Don Hutson having his customary pass-catching successes and Lou Brock ripping the enemy line to shreds, the powerful Green Bay Packers shut out the Boston Yanks, 28-0, in a National Football League game today.

With only thirteen remaining, he found a nice hole and galloped forty-one yards on a twisting side-line race for the Eagles' fourth touchdown. This time Johnny Rogaalia booted the extra point.

GIANTS HUMBLE LIONS
NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (AP)—An aerial-minded band of New York Giants handed the Detroit Lions, erstwhile co-leaders of the Western division in the National Football League, a 35 to 14 beating today. It was the Giants' second win of the year.

Junior Hovious, who less than a month ago rejoined the Giants after his discharge from the army, took over the left halfback duties and to the surprise of the Detroiters as well as the 34,460 paying customers tossed nineteen passes and figured in all of the Giant tallies.

The ex-Mississippi university star completed ten of them, mostly to Frank Liebel, and gained 197 yards through the air.

It was the second defeat of the season for the Lions, who started the contest in a first place tie for the Western leadership with Cleveland and had hoped to meet the Rams on Thanksgiving day with a record of seven wins in eight starts.

Scalpers Won't Do Much Business At Service Game

Biff Jones Assures Senators after Question Is Raised

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 (AP)—Col. Biff Jones, graduate manager of athletics at West Point, assured inquiring senators today that scalpers have little chance of getting tickets for the Army-Navy football game.

The game will be played at Philadelphia December 1.

Sen. Langer (R-ND) raised the question of scalpers a few weeks ago in a Senate speech. He said it had gotten so poor man couldn't take his family to the service game because "speculators, race-horse touts and scalpers" are demanding $25 to $50 a ticket.

Acting Chairman Edwin C. Johnson, of the Senate Military Affairs committee, wrote Jones asking for his comments.

98,593 Tickets Printed
Jones said 98,593 tickets were printed for the year's spectacle.

The Army Athletic Association to distribute half, the Navy Athletic Association the other half. Members of the athletic association get 39,900 tickets, 2,400 seats are reserved for the Cadet cheering section and band, and 7,000 tickets are allotted to government officials, members of Congress, the press and athletic directors. That accounts for the Army's half of the tickets.

Members of the Army Athletic Association were allowed to supply for four "personal use" tickets and up to six non-personal use tickets.

The command was so great from the groups he mentioned that no tickets are available this year for the general public.

Declaring there is no direct or indirect sale or arrangement with scalpers, Jones wrote:

"The present time scalpers undoubtedly are soliciting orders from prospective purchasers of such Army-Navy tickets as the scalpers hope to get x x x x x

An "Impossible" Task
"Eradicating scalpers is well nigh impossible, as demonstrated by the inability of federal, state and city authorities to handle black market operations during the war.

We do all we can at this end to prevent tickets from falling into the hands of scalpers.

"We keep a complete record (section, row and seat) of every ticket allotted to all individuals. We make every effort to learn seat numbers of tickets in the hands of scalpers. When we learn the seat numbers of such tickets we can readily identify the person to whom such ticket was issued by this office.

"Our long standing policy has been to blacklist any member whose tickets find their way into the hands of scalpers, no matter what the circumstances."

CLIPPER" Smith, Veteran Coach, Rates Army Team Best of Century

Cadets Swamp Penn, 61-0; Gaels and Holy Cross Lose

By TED MEIER
NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (AP)—The arguments have started whether Army's unbeaten and untied "Cadets" are the greatest college football team ever assembled.

One vote for the affirmative side came from Maurice "Clipper" Smith, former Villanova coach recently discharged from the marines.

After watching the Cadets chalk up their seventeenth straight victory yesterday by swamping Pennsylvania, 61 to 0, he termed the West Pointers the "greatest team of the century."

Smith, recently signed as coach at the University of San Francisco, is a former star lineman under the late Knute Rockne at Notre Dame during the days of the great George Gipp.

"Army is better than any team I ever saw," said the Clipper. "The way Glenn Davis, Doc Blanchard and the other boys work that T-formation is marvelous. Their explosive speed is a delight to watch. And their lightning alertness on pass defense is phenomenal. They are durable, too. They can have an off day and still win."

Question without an Answer
Smith pointed out the question of Army's greatness may never be answered because it's "like saying Jack Dempsey, at his prime, could whip Joe Louis" but he picked the Cadets over such standard teams of other years as "the Four Horsemen of Notre Dame"; the "wonder" California teams under Andy Smith; Southern California, under Howard Jones; Michigan, of the Fielding Yost era; Minnesota's prewar powerhouses; the Texas Aggies of John Kimbrough's day and Pitt when Marshall Goldberg starred for the Panthers.

The Cadets' rout of Penn. a team that Army Coach Earl Blaik had regarded as "our toughest assignment," highlighted a hectic Saturday on the gridiron that saw the St. Mary's Gaels and the Holy Cross Crusaders toppled from the unbeaten and untied ranks by UCLA and Temple, respectively, 13-7 and 14-6.

Two other upsets saw Iowa beat Minnesota, 20-19, and Michigan State trounce Penn State, 36-7, to come up unbeaten to its traditional clash with army on December 1 at Philadelphia, while Notre Dame rebounded from its 48-0 Army drubbing to lick Northwestern 34-7.

Michigan knocked Purdue out of the running for the Western Conference title, 27-13, while Ohio State, beaten only by Purdue, smothered Illinois, 27-0.

Missouri assured itself of at least a tie for the Big Six title by defeating Oklahoma, 14-6. The Oklahoma Aggies crushed Texas Tech 46-6 while Alabama buried Vanderbilt, 71-0.

Texas regained the lead in the Southwest Conference by beating Texas Christian, 20-0, as Rice downed the Texas Aggies, 6-0. In the Southeast, Gene Knight's field goal gave Louisiana State a 9-7 victory over Georgia Tech, while Georgia humbled Auburn, 35-0. On the Pacific coast, Oregon nosed out California, 20-13. In the South, Wake Forest eked out a 14-13 win over North Carolina and Virginia remained unbeaten by trimming Oceana Navy, 40-0.

In two eastern traditional games Colgate defeated Syracuse, 7 to 6, and Cornell squeaked by Dartmouth, 20-13. Columbia bounced back from its Penn defeat to wallop Princeton, 32-7, and Harvard beat Brown, 14-7.

Leading games this week include:
Thursday
Colorado at Denver, Utah State at Utah, Miami (Ohio) at Cincinnati, Marquette at St. Louis, Drake at Wichita, Arkansas at Tulsa, South Carolina at Wake Forest, New London Subs vs Tuskegee AAF at New York.
Saturday
East—Cornell at Penn, Yale at Princeton, Colgate at Brown, Penn State at Pitt, Dartmouth at Columbia, Boston university at Harvard.
Midwest—Purdue at Indiana, Ohio State at Michigan, Wisconsin at Minnesota, Illinois at Northwestern, Oklahoma Aggies at Oklahoma, Kansas vs Missouri at Kansas City, Iowa at Nebraska.
South—Notre Dame at Tulane, Clemson at Georgia Tech, Pensacola Navy at Alabama, Mississippi at Mississippi State, Tennessee at Kentucky, Virginia at Maryland, North Carolina at Duke.
Southwest—Rice at Texas Christian, Southern Methodist at Baylor, Far West—UCLA at California, Washington at Washington State, Oregon State at Southern California, Texas Tech at New Mexico, Colorado Aggies at Colorado College.

Griffith Warns Nats Not To Play In Cuban League

Senators' Owner Says He Knows Nothing of Torres-Guerra Report

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 (AP)—Clark Griffith said today that Gil Torres and Mike Guerra "simply will have to stand the consequences," if they are playing in Havana contrary to his instructions.

The Washington clubowner's attention was called to a report by Shirley Fovich, Washington Post sports columnist, that Commissioner A. B. "Happy" Chandler is ready to crack down on Torres and Guerra, shortstop and catcher respectively of last season's second-place Senators in the American League race.

Griffith told a reporter that he had warned Torres and Guerra "along with all other players" not to play during the winter months with players whose status in organized baseball has been questioned.

"I don't know anything about this Torres-Guerra report," he added. "I haven't discussed it with Chandler. If the players are doing that, they'll simply have to stand the consequences. It's up to Chandler."

Griffith said last night that there were "no actual cases before the commissioner's office at present" involving baseball professionals' playing in the winter league in Cuba.

Sisler To Play in Cuba
ST. LOUIS, Nov. 18 (AP)—Dick Sisler, St. Louis Cardinal rookie and son of George Sisler, one of baseball's all-time greats, plans to play winter baseball in Cuba upon the recommendation of Owner Sam Breadon, of the Cardinals, it was learned today.

Sisler, a first baseman-outfielder, is awaiting discharge from the navy at Lambert field here. His parents said he plans to play for the Havana team managed by Mike Gonzalez, Cardinal coach, if he is released from service before the season is too far along.

Berkeley Springs Blanks Fort Ashby High, 19-0

BERKELEY SPRINGS, W. Va., Nov. 18—Scoring in the first three periods, the Berkeley Springs High Indians handed Fort Ashby high riders their eighth straight defeat at a recent game here. The score was 19 to 0.

The Indians made their first touchdown midway in the initial stanza when Halfback Rice went around and from the twelve-yard stripe, Fullback Munsen added the second tally just before the half ended, bucking over from the two, while the third six-pointer came shortly after the start of the second half, Youngblood circling end on a

Bowl Officials Have Job on Hands

DALLAS, Nov. 18 (AP)—Cotton bowl officials were doing more figuring than income tax collectors today. It all concerned the Southwest Conference football race.

The Southwest Conference furnishes the host team in the Dallas grid classic. But the agreement calls for the champion to play in the bowl—and just who is going to be champion, the C. B. officials would like to know.

Right now Rice, a team that lost four games before getting started, and Texas are virtually tied for the lead. It might even finish that way. Rice has to beat Texas Christian and Baylor, Texas needs to trim Texas A. and M. But what if they don't?

Well, three could even be a four-way tie for the title.

Oklahoma A. and M. still appears the hottest bet for an opponent unless T.C.U. or S.M.U. should grab off a piece of the championship.

Virginia's unbeaten Cavaliers also have edged into the picture. Cotton Bowl President Jordan Ownby said some felt that perhaps Virginia hadn't played a strong enough schedule but he added, "thoughtfully," "Virginia Cavaliers—a colorful, romantic name. That would certainly sound good."

Former Major Loop Ball Player Is Found Dead

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 18 (AP)—Morris C. Rath, 58, former major league baseball player, was found dead at his Philadelphia home today, a bullet through his head.

Deputy Coroner George C. Topptizer of Delaware county, said Rath's body was found by his wife. Topptizer said she told him a revolver and a note addressed to her were nearby. He did not disclose the contents of the note.

Mrs. Rath said he had been in ill health for some years.

Rath broke into organized baseball in 1908 as second baseman for the Philadelphia Athletics. Later he played with Cleveland, Baltimore, the Chicago White Sox and Cincinnati, winding up with San Francisco in 1921.

Since his retirement he had operated a Philadelphia sporting goods store.

Virginia Quarterback's Condition Improves

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Nov. 18 (AP)—Charlie Ellis, the University of Virginia's veteran quarterback, was reported by the university hospital to have shown signs of improving from the injury he suffered in Saturday's 40 to 0 victory over Oceana naval station.

The injury is reported to be not so serious as was first feared, but it is still uncertain as to whether he will be able to call plays in Virginia's two remaining games with Maryland and North Carolina.

three-yard jaunt. Hotel made the conversion on a line plunge.

Byrd, Harrison Tie for No. 1 Spot In Golf Tourney

MOBILE, Ala., Nov. 18 (AP)—Stocky Sam Byrd, Detroit, and lanky Dutch Harrison, Little Rock, finished in a dead heat for first place in the $10,000 Azalea open golf tournament today by finishing up the seventy-two holes with duplicate scores of 283.

The two professionals will play off the tie over an eighteen-hole route tomorrow. Overcoming a three-hole disadvantage, Harrison, former air corps sergeant, blazed in with his third straight 69. Byrd, erratic with his putter, wound up with an even par 72.

Byrd, former New York Yankee outfielder, lost a chance to win the tournament on the eighteenth hole when he missed a birdie three by about four inches and took a par four. Harrison, who held a one-stroke lead going into the eighteenth hole, required a bogey five when his second shot went into the trap at the right of the green, and he took two putts after getting up.

Harrison and Byrd will tee off at 1 p. m. tomorrow in their playoff with the winner getting $2,000 in Victory bonds and the runnerup receiving $1,333.

Ben Hogan, the Hershey, Pa., professional, wound up in third place two strokes back of the leaders with 285 by posting a fourth round 71. He received $1,000 in Victory bonds.

Fourth prize of $800 went to Ed Furgol, Birmingham, Mich., with a four-day score of 286.

A quartet of links veterans finished in a four-way tie for fifth place with a total 289 and received $554 each.

First prize of $100 in Victory bonds for the leading amateur went to Frank Stranahan, long-driving Toledo, Ohio, player, who finished with a 291. Second prize of $75 went to Lt. Cary Middlecoff, young Memphis, Tenn., army dentist, who had a 295. Third place of $50 went to Fred Hase, New Orleans, with 306.

Jock Leslie Meets Feather Champion

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 18.—(P)—Jock Leslie, Flint, Mich., clubbing his way up the featherweight ladder with a mighty left hook, reaches all the way to the top tomorrow night trying for his seventh consecutive knockout in New Orleans. He will swing for the chin of NBA Featherweight Champion Sal Bartolo, no less—although he will have no opportunity of knocking off the Boston Italian's crown. It will be an over-weight match with the champion coming in at around 130 pounds and Leslie a trifle over the featherweight limit of 126.

The ten-round bout is the big moment thus far in the life of the 21-year-old Michigan fighter, a Golden Gloves graduate, class of 1941. One blow from his paralyzing left could catapult him into the big money.

But, of course, the blow must land; and the fast and shifty champion has avoided the might of some very hefty punchers indeed, including Phil Terranova, from whom he won the NBA title in March of 1944.

New Music Quiz Will Be Offered On Radio Chain

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD
NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (AP) — Without indicating how long it will run, MBS has listed for 10:30 Monday night a new quiz which it calls "Detect a Tune." As the name implies, it is a musical stunt, having Norman Brokenshire as M. C. and the Vincent Lopez orchestra. A couple of soloists to help out will be Judy Lang and Terry Allen.

Another in the current series of Victory bond broadcast will be "A New Birth of Freedom" for CBS-East at 10:30. It is to mark the eighty-second anniversary of Lincoln's Gettysburg address.

Back to the Don Vorhees concert of NBC at 9 p.m. Lily Pons for another solo guesting. She will have three songs.

The series dealing with "Science in War and Peace" as displayed weekly by MBS comes to a close at 7:15 with Dr. Lee A. Dubridge of the University of Rochester discussing radar.

Both Ann Harding and Ronald Colman are slated to play "The Keys of the Kingdom" for the CBS Radio theater at 9.

Robert Montgomery is due for "Information Please" of NBC at 9:30.

Spotlight hands with the cooperation of Gene Krupa and Morton Downey will salute the American Legion convention at Chicago in its MBS broadcast at 9:30.

"Best Sellers" of ABC this week at 3 is dramatizing in five episodes "The Birth of Mischief," novel of the days of Frederick the Great of Russia.

The Vox Poppers of CBS at 8, continuing from New York, will devote their questions to foreign students who reside at International House.

In a belated announcement ABC says at 1:30 p.m. Monday it will carry the address of Adm. Chester W. Nimitz from the American Legion convention at Chicago.

the status quo, kicking our de-natured programmes to pieces. Get back to life! Get back to jobs and contacts that lie at the root of things! Jobs that will make you sweat and ache and burn, and single, next morning, with new energy.

Stop thinking of appearances or profits for a while. Give up your office. Dismiss your cook and maid.

Inconvenient? Probably. But suicide's a lot more inconvenient. Wasteful? Maybe. But it's much more costly to waste life than money.

If you're a man, get work for a while on the docks, or in some factory or farm. Get away from house and suburbs, movies and billiard balls. AND WOMEN GO WILDERNESS. GO HE.

If you're a woman, have a baby, make a garden, learn to sew. Get NEXT to some of the fundamental creative jobs that your grandmother did. Some of those jobs that left her with more ginger at eighty than you have now at thirty. If you're a strong enough woman—a highly trained professional who's going sour on her job—set outland be a husher, or a cook in a mining camp, or a practical nurse. Forgotten that life was real?

THAT'L'LARN YOU SISTER! WHAT'L'L MAKE LIFE WORTH WHILE? LIFE ITSELF WILL MAKE LIFE WORTH WHILE IF WE GIVE IT A CHANCE.

What will make life worth while? Life itself, will make life worth while if you'll give it a chance.

We tire of living, not because life itself, has failed us, but because we have cut our vital contact with life. Life should feed us and renew us if we will stay close enough to life. But we do not stay close, instead, we set up artificial programs and call them life. So gradually, the source of energy is shut off and we develop a spiritual anemia which we call "boredom."

How shall we cure ourselves of a weariness of living? By going back to life. And what does that mean? Generally it means raising Cain with

Lee, Jennings Will Speak on Aviation

Josh Lee, an ex-Senator and member of the Civil Aeronautics Board, and Rep. Jennings Randolph of West Virginia will discuss "The Future of Aviation" at a dinner meeting Tuesday, December 4, at 6:30 p. m. at All Ghan Shrine Country Club.

The dinner meeting is sponsored by the membership activities committee of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce.

"Both of these men are excellent speakers and are thoroughly conversant with the subject in which we have such a direct interest," H. W. Smith, secretary of the chamber of commerce, said in announcing the speaking program.

"Our airport is now ready for extended use, grading completed, runways hard-surfaced and lighting installed. It is a port of which every citizen of Cumberland can be proud. As to what the future will bring to this port and to Cumberland is something we want to know. The speakers will undoubtedly have some of the answers," Smith concluded.

What Will Make Life Worth While? A discouraged man has written me a letter. He finds nothing worth while in his existence.

"WHY SHOULDN'T I KILL MYSELF?" he says.

And perhaps that question may stir a dark response in your own heart. You, too, may have lost your appetite for life, and are wondering if the next year is worth the effort if so, his answer goes for you.

"I'm 37," he writes "tired of myself, my profession and life in general. This isn't a temporary mood. It has existed for years. Now it has reached such a pitch that I am contemplating suicide. Yet even while I think of death I long for life. I long to be interested and alert and eager once more. But what will make life worth while? What will lift this deadly boredom? Don't tell me to bury myself in my work. I have been in my work so long that I think of it with loathing. As things now stand there isn't an interest on earth that holds me.

WHY SHOULDN'T I KILL MYSELF?"

No reason against it, I suppose, brother, if life's useless to you and you're useless to life. But is it? Are you? No! Life can still be made worth while!

What will make life worth while? Life itself, will make life worth while if you'll give it a chance.

We tire of living, not because life itself, has failed us, but because we have cut our vital contact with life. Life should feed us and renew us if we will stay close enough to life. But we do not stay close, instead, we set up artificial programs and call them life. So gradually, the source of energy is shut off and we develop a spiritual anemia which we call "boredom."

Kelly Strike Will Continue, Union Officials Report

Local 26, URWA, Elects Industrial Union Council Delegates

Officials of Local 26, United Rubber Workers of America, CIO, reported at the end of a routine membership meeting yesterday that members of the local, who walked out of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant here October 31, will continue the strike until the union's demands are satisfactorily settled.

Over 1,300 production workers walked out of the local tire plant after an unsuccessful negotiation session on the union's demands for wage increases which company officials said would cost over $4,000,000 yearly.

The Kelly company, in an advertisement in yesterday's newspapers, declared the wage demands "impossible," pointing out that if all profits earned during the first nine months of 1945 were added to its total payroll, the increase would be less than eight per cent.

Report on Conference

Beard said the negotiating committee presented a report on a conference arranged by James A. Holden, federal conciliator, with the company and the union November 8.

The committee, union officials said, reported that nothing was accomplished at the meeting since the company refused to make a wage increase offer.

No vote was taken at yesterday afternoon's well attended meeting but union officials said the general opinion of the workers is to stay out until some satisfactory settlement is reached.

The conciliator, union officials reported is still trying to bring the company and the union together. Union officials added they knew of no plans for such a meeting.

The company statement declares the only sources of higher wages are increased output per manhour or increased prices and asserted present output per manhour is far below that of 1941.

Staff Sgt. Jack Platt and his Air Transport Command band played a command performance in Copenhagen, Denmark, during the first week in October as one of the highlights of the Danish celebration of the seventy-fifth birthday of King Christian X.

Sgt. Platt and his band presented a program of American music October 3 at a premiere performance in the newly-completed Danish state radio studio before an audience of 1,500 persons, including Crown Prince Frederick and Crown Princess Ingrid. The band gave a forty-five minute radio broadcast, followed by an hour program for the audience, featuring music by George Gershwin, Sigmund Romberg, and other modern American composers.

Following the program, Sgt. Platt, a former Allegheny high school teacher, spent thirty minutes with the crown prince, discussing classical and swing music. The next day Sgt. Platt received a set of platinum cuff-links from King Christian, for "the gesture of friendship displayed between our two great nations."

The crown prince presented him with a box filled with orchids and a conductor's baton from the crown prince, who is an excellent musician.

Chest Campaign Is $42,000 Short; Drive Is Extended

Campaign Leaders Urge Citizens To Support Worthy Cause

The annual National War Fund and Community Chest campaign has been extended into this week to permit the more than 900 campaign workers to call on thousands of prospective contributors who have not yet been contacted.

Campaign leaders Saturday called on the citizens of Cumberland and its communities of Allegheny county for complete giving for the worthwhile cause.

Workers will meet Wednesday noon at Central YMCA with each worker urged to turn in every dollar in hand for the audit. The auditing staff will be in their places to receive report envelopes at 11:30 a. m.

"Campaign totals are still short $42,000 of the $118,671 needed for the services of the National War Fund and Cumberland Community Chest agencies for 1946," Henry W. Price, campaign general chairman, pointed out.

"Of this total Allegheny county communities outside of Cumberland must still turn in $14,700, all gifts in the county go to the National War Fund. Then the four sections in the Cumberland campaign organization must still raise $27,900 to attain its share of the total goal," Mr. Price explained.

Roy W. Eves, president of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce and an active leader in every campaign, has headed the drive for solicitation of all Cumberland railway employees, with total reports of gifts from the Baltimore & Ohio, Western Maryland and C & P employees at $4,348.

The latest report on the National War Fund drive for Allegheny county shows that Froeburg has raised only 23 percent of its goal. This is not like Froeburg. Our community always wants to do and does its share. I am sure when the final results are in, Froeburg and the rest of the county will be over the top so let us get going," Mayor Marshall C. Skidmore of Froeburg declared.

Likes One Campaign

"I have always been impressed with the idea of having one big campaign do the job of many," said Paul W. England, president of the Allegheny Trades Council. "This saves both the solicitor and the contributor a lot of trouble. Members of American Federation of Labor unions appreciate this type of campaign and I am sure they are going to do their bit to make this drive a success. The agencies getting funds from this drive deserve all they can get, and I hope labor does its part to put the drive across."

William E. Meagher, president of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, added his bit by stating:

"It has been necessary for the Community Chest and National War Fund drive to be extended so that the quota will be met. These are very worthy causes and I am appealing to members of Local 1874 and to other labor groups to participate to the utmost extent of their resources in order that the goal may be attained. The nine local agencies receiving income from the Chest are designed to assist in the well-being of all working people. Money going to the War Fund will help make life more pleasant for our soldiers and sailors until they get back into civilian life."

Post Joins Appeal

Mayor Thomas B. Post joined in the appeal, stating:

"Our contributions to the war agencies must continue until every boy and every girl has returned home, and there are several millions waiting to be returned home. Our contributions to the welfare and character building agencies must continue to make Cumberland a better city in which to live."

Campaign headquarters reported some encouraging returns brought in yesterday from Cresapton, Plintstone, Lonaconing, and Ellerslie which will go in the audit Wednesday noon. All county communities are urged to make returns of cash and pledges for the Wednesday audit, but to continue soliciting until every gift possible to get is received.

Marched 603 Miles

"We marched 603 miles in forty days," Arnold said. "There were 6,000 Russians, 400 French, 500 English, 400 Indians and 1,032 American soldiers."

"While marching, all the food we had was seven loaves of bread for every thirty men—plus what we could get by trading our own personal belongings."

But at that stage of the game, the Allies were advancing with such rapidity that the contingent of prisoners was liberated on the fortieth day while marching on into the interior of Germany.

As far as is known, yesterday's dinner on Valley street marked the first Thanksgiving dinner this season in Cumberland.

Mr. Stroup, who has been employed at the Amelle plant for twenty-one years, was very much in evidence yesterday for the big event but Mrs. Stroup was quite obviously managing the dinner.

It would probably have been very difficult to find a more happy woman in Cumberland than Mrs. Stroup yesterday with five strapping sons making a big fuss over her.

"Mother had to really sweat this war out, you know," one of the boys remarked.

Thanksgiving Is Celebrated Early As Five Sons in Service Come Home

Stroups Serve Turkey and Four Chickens To Celebrate

When Mr. and Mrs. George O. Stroup, 12 Valley street, learned that they would have all of their five soldiers and sailor sons under their roof yesterday for the first time in five years, they immediately decided that Sunday, November 18, would be Thanksgiving day as far as they were concerned.

Accordingly, they let out the dining room table and assembled a typical Maryland Thanksgiving dinner, including a big turkey and four chickens, that would have brought a nod of approval from the early Pilgrims.

At it is doubtful if the Pilgrim fathers had greater cause for rejoicing at their first Thanksgiving than Mr. and Mrs. Stroup had last night when they sat down at the big table groaning with food, surrounded by their entire family including the men safely home from battlefronts in far flung corners of the globe.

The sons present, starting with the eldest were:

Staff Sgt. Arnold H. Stroup, 30, Third Infantry division veteran, who was wounded in France and is now a prisoner in the Rhineland.

Pvt. Otis H. Stroup, 27, Camp Pickett, Va., who was tagged for guard duty Friday night and barely made the get-together.

Pfc. Glenn W. Stroup, 23, who served with an anti-aircraft unit in Africa and Sicily and was discharged last January.

Second Lt. Ira D. Stroup, 21, who served with the Fifteenth air corps in Italy and is now home on a forty-five-day leave from Greensboro, N. C.

Seaman Second Class Richard P. Stroup, 18, stationed in California and who expects to ship out for China in a few days.

In addition to the five sons, there was also a son-in-law present, Tech. Sgt. Urner Carl, only recently discharged from the air corps after service on Saipan.

In twenty-one members of the family and two guests sat down to dinner, including Arnold's wife and son; Otis' wife and daughter; Glenn's wife; three daughters, Mrs. Carl, Mrs. Raymond Easton, (Mr. Easton and two children) and Miss Mary Jane Stroup.

Tapped for Guard Duty

"I almost missed this," Otis commented. "I was tapped for guard duty at Camp Pickett Friday night but it just happened that they only needed thirty-two men for the guard mount and I happened to be the thirty-third."

Thanks to this good luck, Otis got away and made the first family get-together in five years but he had to depart for camp almost immediately after the dinner. He expects to sail for Germany in a few days.

Arnold, the eldest son, perhaps had the toughest sledding of all the Stroups in the war. He was wounded January 15 during hard fighting with the Third division at Le Plaz in the Colmar pocket.

Later, he was captured during the drive on the Rhineland.

Marched 603 Miles

"We marched 603 miles in forty days," Arnold said. "There were 6,000 Russians, 400 French, 500 English, 400 Indians and 1,032 American soldiers."

Argument in Suit Against Sun Is Scheduled Nov. 26

Baltimore Papers' Circulation Is on Skids Here, Testimony Shows

Final argument in the injunction proceedings brought by Harry L. O'Rourke against the A. S. Abell Company, publisher of the Baltimore Sunpapers, will be held Monday, November 26, Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge Walter C. Capper announced Saturday when testimony was completed shortly after noon.

O'Rourke, who asked an injunction to compel the firm to continue the delivery of papers to him, charged that the Abell company ceased such deliveries as of October 1 "without reason and without the slightest excuse."

William C. Walsh and Thomas B. Finan, counsel for the publishing company, asserted that the Sun's contract with O'Rourke gave the firm the right to terminate it in the event his services, in the judgment of the company, were not satisfactory.

Circulation Dropped, Walsh Says

Walsh said that on April 13, 1942, when O'Rourke took over the agency from Homer C. Bridges, there were 301 morning Suns sold in this area; 110 Evening Suns and 880 Sunday Suns.

On September 30 this year, Walsh said the number of copies sold in the Cumberland territory had dropped to 230 of the morning edition, sixty-nine Evening Suns and 607 Sunday Suns.

Walsh also contended that the Sun circulation had increased in other sections of Maryland but this was the only area where a decline was shown.

For the balance of the case, counsel with Morris Baron for O'Rourke said that a major factor in the decline in circulation of the Sun papers here was the fact that Cumberland papers were "better papers" and carried later news than the Sun papers.

Printed Night Before

When cross examined by Sloan, George Burch, circulation manager of the Sun, said that the morning edition of the Sun sold here is printed at 8:15 p. m. the day before and is what is known as a "stripped paper" inasmuch that advertising is removed from editions sold in front of McCrory's store. An officer and eight men will bring the car here from Hagerstown. Included in the group will be Sgt. Joseph Azora, who captured the machine.

The car weighs 8,200 pounds. While plans have not been completed it is hoped the car will be taken to the Celanese plant at 9:30 p. m. for display until after the 11 o'clock shift change.

Lynn C. Lashley, chairman of the Victory Loan Drive for Allegheny county, Saturday declared, "One way of displaying the spirit of Thanksgiving this year is to get behind the Victory drive."
